

A PhD studentship is available at the LBBE

from April 1st 2021 to develop mathematical models aiming to improve our understanding of the epidemiology of foot-and-mouth disease in endemic setting and evaluate the effectiveness of control strategies.

Published on 5 February 2021

See details of the PhD position in attachment