

Former LBBE doctoral student honoured

Benjamin Guinet, former doctoral student at the LBBE, receives a prize awarded by the French Virology Society for his thesis, defended in 2023, on endogenous viruses in Hymenoptera insects.

Published on 2 May 2024

Each year, the Société française de virologie (SFV) and the ANRS Maladies infectieuses émergentes (ANRS-MIE) join forces to award "thesis prizes" to young scientists whose research work has made a mark on the field through its high quality, originality or innovative nature. This year's winners include Benjamin Guinet, whose thesis entitled "Global study of viral domestication in parasitoid wasps" was defended at the laboratory. Well done to him!